VOLUME LV

THE NORWAY ADVERTISER

(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)

Are We Doing Our Duty by Our Soldier Boys?

I am asking this question of the citizens of our good old town of Norway.
As everyone knows, the Norway Legion are erecting a building for their own use and it has come to my attention these last few days that they are not meeting with the success that they have anticipated in the sale of their Bonds. They are not seeking a gift but offer for sale a good first mortgage Real Estate value and a half per cent. bond, and personally I am greatly disturbed to hear that some of our citizens, who are abundantly able, have refused to purchase these bonds. I wonder how possible that we have forgotten so soon, our great and lasting obligation to them. Have we forgotten when it came time for them to leave that we promised them and ourselves what we would do for them if they should be spared to return to us? I do not believe that the Fathers and Mothers can ever forget. I surely remember the time arrived for my own boy to start the parting with his mother at home, and the last look and press of the hand when he left me in Portland. I could not bear to have him go without giving that part with him, and like thousands of fathers and mothers all over the world, their hearts almost breaking and yet so proud of their boy who had enlisted, and with a smile was off, to go only God knew where and to do what they were told to do.

Yes, we wanted to do great things for them. But now the war is over and part of them are back and they came to us for a little assistance. We say to them for no substance. "No, the war is over and we are safe, now we know that you went and fought for us, yes, you suffered and some of your companions did not come back.
We stayed at home and made money, lived in luxury while you were fighting for us.
We admit all that, but we have the money that we piled up at that time well invested and you have to get along without our help. We are sorry, but we cannot help you at this time to erect a building that you promise to pay for.
You have saved us but we are not willing to help you."

This, my friends, is what some of us are saying to them. Is it about soldiers during the war and said some very harsh things about them, but I am very positive that some of us, when the final day of reckoning comes, will be found wanting in some of the things that we have left undone here.

What ought to be done in Norway is just this: a sense of justice and opportunity to show our gratitude should so take hold of us that in place of a loan we should raise the money by subscription sufficient to complete and equip this building, and make them a present of every cent.

I am very sorry that this appeal needed to be made, but it seems that the privilege of making the plea for the boys that we honor and love so much, and now you good people of Norway, won't you help them, buy a bond or better still, make them a gift, give till it hurts and then give till it does not hurt? Consider this carefully and when the hour calls, do to them what you would be done by.

Sincerely yours,
E. N. Swett

Norway Grammar School team won their fourth consecutive game, Saturday, when Woodstock Grammar School lost their second game to this outfit. Both teams played hard and displayed considerable inside knowledge of the sport.
Woodstock failed to land solid on Ashton's pitching owing to strong support in the field. Clark was keen behind the plate.

The Woodstock battery, Lanie and Taylor featured for their school.

Norway High School outplayed Oxford High School by a wide margin at the fair grounds Wednesday afternoon.
The Oxford team made seven hits, but five costly errors in pinches went far toward permitting Norway to send runners on a wild career.

Both teams played good ball with Norway more conspicuous with snappy action. Rain doused the field and players in the second inning and made errors excusable during the remainder of the contest.

Next Saturday the Norway team will line up at Gardiner against the high school outfit. A regular battle is expected to try the real qualities not yet let loose.

On the following Wednesday May 21, the Norwolves will invade Bethel and appear against Gould's Academy.
If the Gould's baseball material is equal to its basketball squad, the visitors will do no loafing to win.

Good Evening, Clarice

Nearly six hundred people crowded Norway Opera House Friday evening when a cast from the seniors at Norway High School produced J. C. Mullen's royalty drama "Good Evening, Clarice." This is a farce comedy of domestic life in three acts showing the effects of relying on a ouija board for instruction in matrimony. The play was well received, information from the world of spirits matters and brought about ridiculous complications especially to the innocent.

The play centers around the destinies of young married people controlled by ouija in the hands of a credulous aunt.
Incidentally like the measles, the effect of spirit messages spread rapidly until the entire family and a Hippodrome dancer, have contracted the trouble. While the ouija board causes matrimonial suspicions it also performs a noble service by uniting an estranged husband and wife while leading to the last climax.

The play was coached and staged by Harold A. Anderson and pronounced the best school drama in years. Every part was played up to the possibilities in the story and intelligent acting was noticeable.

Louis Roy appeared as "Louis Franklin" the husband who considered ouija messages "bunk" especially when his wife, Annette, lost faith in his love while following the board's warnings.

Eldith Joslin was "Annette," the superstitious wife. Her source of misin-formation to show our gratitude should so take hold of us that in place of a loan we should raise the money by subscription
building, and make them a present of
every cent.

to be made, but it seems that the privilege of making the plea for the boys that we

them what you would be done by.

Sincerely yours,
E. N. Swett

Local Vaudeville at Rex

Despite the rain, large houses greeted the second edition of Norway Frolics at Rex Theatre, Monday evening. This novelty was held in connection with the usual movie bill at both shows.

All acts received generous applause and were presented in a snappy manner with not a drag. John Quinn and John, Jr., of Oxford earned first money at the opening show and second in the last appearance. Stephen Kimball carried home second and first money.

Miss Dorothy Dean of South Paris opened the Frolics with a nicely executed opinion solo. She is a pupil of Miss Haskell of Norway.

Ernest Cloutier of Norway rendered a vocal solo, "I'm Going Home With You," words by Mrs. Lillian Bartlett Richards and music by Roy White, both of Norway.

Mr. White played a violin accompaniment.
Ernest M. Deane, introduced by Manager DeCroteau as a few jokes and recited an original poem "The Horse and the Chauffeur." The encore was a song, Fred wore a silk tie and appeared as a Washington senator.

Frances Russell of South Paris delighted the spectators with a neatly executed toe dance. Her white costume spangled with stars was effective under the spot light.

Louise Roderick of Oxford possesses a clear voice and sang "The Old Waltz." John Quinn and a chip of the old block John, Jr., aged six years, carried the house with a duet, "Gallagher and Shean." Costumes were modern. John Jr. in long trousers, "claw hammer" coat, silk hat and tortoise shell goggles was a good reproduction of the late Tom Thurlo.

Not many years hence pa John must "step on it" to keep up with the youthful heir in show business.

Stephen Kimball of Norway, the veteran fiddler, with Frederick M. Davis at the piano, rendered jigs, reels and horn-pipes, harking back some forty years to good times at Albany Town House. Mr.
Kimball was a commanding figure with his flowing white beard and the fire of youth in every stroke of the bow. The violin used is said to be over a century old.
Gold Mine Night is set for Monday

PASSING OF A LAND MARK IN LOVELL CENTER

With the passing into the hands of Benj. S. Whitehead, the owner of "Ever-breeze," the former property of Rev. J. E. Werren, next to the store and postoffice will probably soon appear in much modified form. But there will be a considerable change as the family of Mr. Werren will disappear from the scene.

After a sojourn of two summers (1893 and 1894) J. E. Werren bought a lot of land from Eekley T. Stearns. He and his family were the first summer visitors who built a permanent summer home in Center Lovell. Mr. Werren took in the exquisite beauty of the place, and with the creation of a simple cottage has begun that long development which introduced the steady growth that bids fair to make Center Lovell one of the most desirable spots for summer residents.

Great changes have marked the period of passing years, of the older inhabitants who still make the Center their home, there is but one on the main road through the hamlet, our most estimable and beloved friend, Mrs. Eekley T. Stearns. The old inhabitants have passed away, and a new generation sprung up during thirty years.

As to the community, the greatest innovation seems to have come to the church life. The Congregational body, lost almost all its supporters by death and its members, and at present is practically closed. The main activity appears to have fallen upon the Christian body. We remember the first acquaintance with that church, when such noble supporters as Mrs. Lydia P. Stearns and Mrs. Sarah L. Charles were heroic workers. Of course there were many others, a number of them still alive, but we are recalling only workers and the changes following their decease. The church life was then (as largely now) in the hands of active women. They carried on the services themselves when the isolated farming district could not offer adequate inducement to an active man as a resident minister.

Much of this has greatly changed. From an old fashioned country church, it has become a summer community church. More and more frequently the services are suspended during winter time and doors opened when the summer visitors return—the natural change, coming to a community, when it changes from a farming character to a summer resort.

Great days are coming to Center Lovell in the near future. Judicious investors will see sufficient inducements to erect attractive buildings for an increasing number of tourists, who will love more and more to find an abiding place for a charming recreation in one of the loveliest spots in the vacation and—Maine.

Center Lovell has yet in reserve some of the finest opportunities for such enterprise. The opening for suitable recreation is drawing lively attention to prosperity that is bound to grow as plans for larger cooperation will unify interests.

Jacob E. Werren.

Abington, Mass.

We print the following article which is a note to the editor, but it so explains the reasons for the preceding article, we print it in full: "I hope you will find room in a near edition to insert this communication. I leave Center Lovell in my eighty-first year, because my health does not permit travelling any longer. While compelled to give up my beloved summer home, Center Lovell, I wish to bid the spot (which ever will be a real home, because the first place that I owned as my home) an affectionate farewell, and my sincere wishes for a deserving prosperity. Respectfully yours, Jacob E. Werren, over thirty years a subscriber.

Your dollars are workers ready to obey your orders. Are you depositing some of them in a Savings Account so you can profit by having them work together? It pays.

Oxford Pomona Grange
Oxford Pomona Grange was entertained May 6 by Pleasant Valley Grange, West Bethel; at the sound of the gavel, all officers were present. Opening exercises and business occupied the first part of the forenoon, followed by the conferring of the degree of Pomona on twenty candidates. The degree work is always a very interesting feature. Twelve Oxford County Granges were represented with visitors from Kesz Lake Grange, Lovell; Gorham Grange, and Mt. Sugar Leaf, Dixfield. The next Pomona is to be held with Waterford Grange, North Waterford, on June 3. Lin Flint, the Jungle man, was heard to say he hoped they'd have five hundred there and the table would be much decorated with custard pies, that being the case we know from past experience that the brothers will be there in full force for to them "pies is pies," but custard pie is "the" pie. Interesting remarks were made by Bro. L. E. McIntire and several others during the session.

COULD NOT WALK BECAUSE OF PAIN

Bad Case of Woman's Illness Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Missouri.—"I had such a bad case of female trouble that I could not walk because of the pains from inflammation. My back was all done up. I could hardly bend, could not go up stairs because of weakness, and no one could possibly be in worse shape than I was. I have taken twelve bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am a strong woman now and can work down any of my neighbors. They wonder how I can do so much work. I dare say that I have recommended your medicine to a thousand women. A little book was thrown at my door, and that is how I first learned of it." Mrs. D. M. BEAUCHAMP, 1104 Morrison Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use.
